Teachers Weekly Update

Friday 6th November 2026

Next week...

Assessment week is here! The whole school is taking part in this and we'll be completing an assessment that will take no longer than an hour each morning.

Monday – SPAG

Tuesday – Spelling & Arithmetic

Wednesday – Reasoning

Thursday – Reasoning

Friday – Reading

Don't forget it's Children in Need on Monday – so yellow clothes, spots, face paint, ears and accessories are all welcome! If your child took their sign home to finish today, please remember to bring it back on Monday!

Stars of the week

Esme – A rocket! You attack all your learning with such enthusiasm and effort. It's resulting in some incredible learning and work!

William – The English work you read today is a perfect representation of your recent performance. Your work is so carefully thought through.

Isla M – I am struggling to summarise your week in only a few words... incredible. Across the board brilliance. English, buddies, maths, independence, presentation it's all been top class!

Recommended Read

From the former doctor and bestselling author of This is Going to Hurt comes a new side-splitting series about the world's youngest doctor, Dexter Proctor. He is different. He is ten years old. He has friends but he is so bright and gifted. And by the age of ten, he is working as a paediatrician at Lilydale General Hospital! But Dexter has a mortal enemy (Dr Drake) and a major problem – all the teachers are struck down with dreadful diarrhoea!
